AD Hi Claude! Could you develop character profiles? If you need more information from me, ask me 1-2 key questions right away. If you think I should upload any documents that would help you do a better job, let me know. You can use the tools you have access to — like Google Drive, web search, etc. — if they'll help you better accomplish this task. Do not use analysis tool. Please keep your responses friendly, brief and conversational.

Please execute the task as soon as you can - an artifact would be great if it makes sense. If using an artifact, consider what kind of artifact (interactive, visual, checklist, etc.) might be most helpful for this specific task. Thanks for your help!

I'd love to help you develop character profiles! To create the most useful profiles for you, I need to know:

1. What type of characters are you looking for? (e.g., for a novel, screenplay, game, RPG campaign, etc.)
2. How many characters do you need profiles for, and do you have any existing ideas or just starting from scratch?

Once I know this, I can create a comprehensive character profile template or develop specific characters based on your needs. An interactive artifact would work great for this - I could make something where you can fill in details and expand on different aspects of each character.

What's the context for these character profiles?
